Abstract

There are many controversies around value education. Value based education is the true education. The positive learning environment can create through value education. It can free teachers and students from stress of life. It also provide social capacity to students and equipped them with social and relationship skill.

Key words: value, education

Introduction:

In words of C.S. Lewis “education without value as useful as it is, seems rather to make man a cleverer devil.” So, here question arises about the need of value education. Value education can create moral awareness to use science and technology, unite human beings. It can make decision making strong. It can awake curiosity, develop proper interest, attitudes, values and capacity to think and judge about oneself. Not only can this but it also help to prompt social and natural integration.

Aims of value education:

-Scientific temper of mind

-Humanity

-Cooperation

-Tolerance

-Respect for others

Why Values in Education?

Education is not education until values are added to it. so, value plays an important role in education. Value based education makes students a true human being. They will be respectful for others and will be good citizens. Not only this they will also respect environment. It’s all about to be good son, daughter, father, mother, doctor, engineer etc. one good and honest doctor will help the society and will not rob, a good engineer will work with honesty. Good children will not kick out their parents. This is the demand of current time; this is the real objective of education.

How to Teach Value in Education:

There are many ways to teach values through education. It is said that we should add values in teaching of all subjects even in mathematics. But implementation of those values in life is most important which starts from teachers and parents. Teachers and parents can be the role model for students. It means that are we following the same values in our life? Are we honest? Are we accepting diversity of race, religion, caste, gender? I think it is crucial for each and every one of us to be true and honest as we teachers are trademark of humanity and honesty.
Conclusion:

Values help in shaping the character of students. The students can differentiate between right and wrong. They can become good citizen of the country if they will get value based education from family and school.
